In certain cases, personal data may be stored for longer periods where that data is to be processed for archiving purposes that are in the public interest, for scientific or historical research, or for statistical purposes (subject to the implementation of the appropriate technical and organisational measures required by the Data Protection Legislation to protect that data).

In addition, the Data Protection Legislation includes the right to erasure or “the right to be forgotten”. Data subjects have the right to have their personal data erased (and to prevent the processing of that personal data) in the following circumstances:

- 1.1.1 Where the personal data is no longer required for the purpose for which it was originally collected or processed (see above);
- 1.1.2 When the data subject withdraws their consent;
- 1.1.3 When the data subject objects to the processing of their personal data and the Company has no overriding legitimate interest;
- 1.1.4 When the personal data is processed unlawfully (i.e. in breach of the Data Protection Legislation);
- 1.1.5 When the personal data has to be erased to comply with a legal obligation; or

- 1.1.6 Where the personal data is processed for the provision of information society services to a child.
